DEDICATION

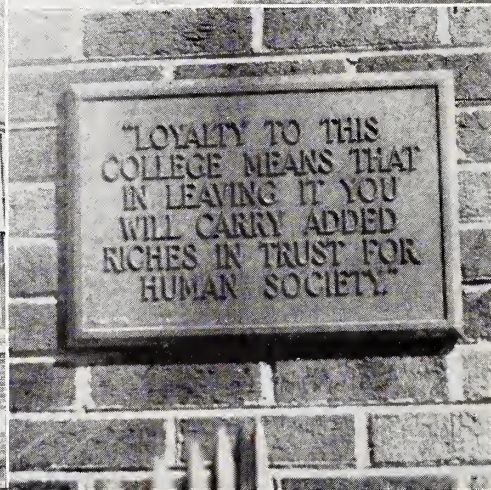

To you who have shared the cumulative offerings of the past century of Rockford College and who, in leaving, take with you that part of R.C. which has become you and yet leave a greater part of what you are and have done, to you, the Senior Class, we dedicate this book.

*"... a school where all could live
And be what they are, and say what they think."*

1947

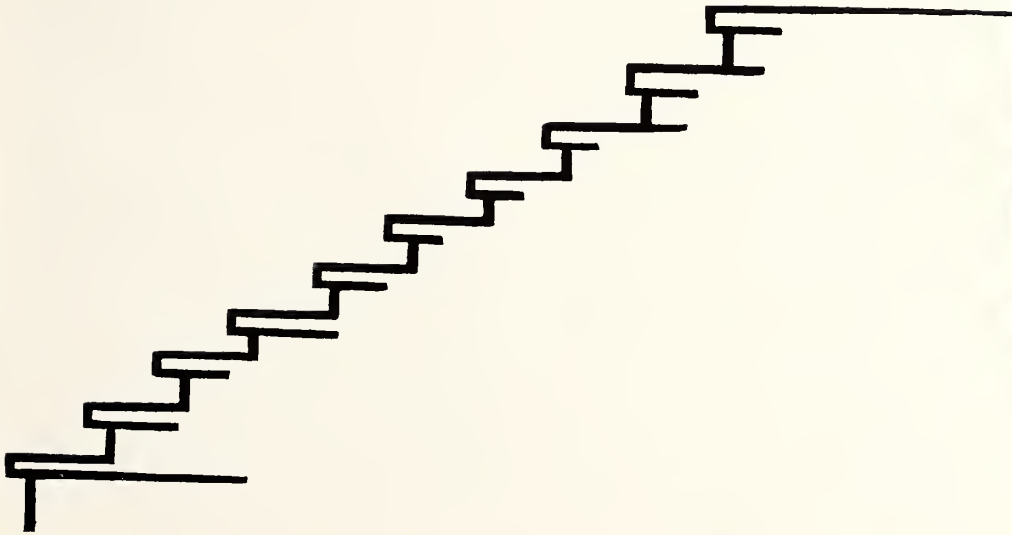

A black and white photograph of the entrance to Rockford College. The entrance is marked by two tall, rectangular brick pillars on either side of a path. A sign is suspended from a post between the pillars. The path leads into a wooded area with many trees. The overall scene is quiet and somewhat somber due to the monochrome palette.

ROCKFORD COLLEGE

COLLEGE MEANS THAT IN LEAVING IT YOU
WILL CARRY ADDED
RICHES IN TRUST FOR
